ABOUT MILLER

The convergence of information, energy, and facilities is creating a new set of opportunities for our clients. At Miller Electric Company, we have upgraded our capabilities to not only be your facility partner, but also your business partner – not only helping you manage your electrical and technology infrastructure, but also helping you leverage the increased connectedness to drive performance.

In today's rapidly changing environment, we remain grounded in our core values and committed to our mission. Whether you are embarking on a new construction project, upgrading an existing facility, or developing a proactive monitoring and maintenance program, we are committed to bringing you quality and innovation at every turn. We are in the business of powering the possibilities of a more connected future. Let us bring those possibilities to you.

MILLER AUDIO VISUAL SOLUTIONS

The demand for networked audio/visual (A/V) solutions has increased significantly due to the integration of audiovisual and IT technology.

From integrated voice/data/video systems for educational facilities to audio and video presentation systems, our staff specializes in designing and implementing solutions for our clients. Our system designers, market specialists, project managers, and support staff are uniquely qualified to provide a full spectrum of technical support for any organization. With Enterprise scaled solutions that are delivered with a local personal touch Miller brings together expertise, ingenuity, flexibility, and scale to support each client's individual needs.

No one solution can solve a client's needs so our dedicated team of professionals work with each client to determine their needs before providing the "solution". From video walls for NFL stadiums to an individual conference room comes a commitment to provide the correct solution for our client.

Design & Technology

For organizations that must rely on technology to provide their products/services, Miller provides a complete design, engineering, cost analysis, implementation and management of all of their audio and visual needs.
